Nicodemus, der — bei der Nacht zu Jesu gekommen war [in Scripture], Nicodemus, which at the first came to Jesus by night. Syn. Vormalis, Vorzeiten, Ehemals, Vor diesem, Vor Alters, Weiland. The most remote and venerable antiquity is denoted by Vor Alters [in ancient times]. Vor Alters [in the early ages, times of yore, in olden times] men reached a more advanced age than now. Vor Zeiten [in former times] does not designate so remote a period, nevertheless it is distinguished from vormalis and ehemals, by its pointing out an intermediate time of several ages, as vormalis and ehemals may signify a time past in the same generation or age. One says then: In former times [vor Zeiten] the nobles of Europe lived in their castles, and in a constant state of feud. When vormalis and ehemals are used of a period of time that is past, the former denotes a comparison with the present. This then is 'formerly'. Vor diesem [before now, ere now, before this] denotes quite an indefinite past time, which may have formed part of the life-time of the speaker or may have been before his time. Weiland [heretofore] is in common life obsolete, it is still used in the chancery style and is equivalent in meaning to ehemals, V. Ehemals.

Waffen, Gewehr and Rüstung are first all such instruments of war, as the warrior carries at or on his body; Geschüs [artillery ordnance] such as follow the army and are drawn by animals, as cannon. The word Waffen [weapons] denotes in its most extended sense every thing that can be used for attack, for defence and protection; hence even the limbs of animals are so called, which they use for attack or defence, as horns, teeth, claws &c. In the more limited sense we understand by Waffen [arms] the artificial portable instruments, which the warrior uses as well for attack and defence as for protection. Under the word Rüstung we understand all the usual artificial Waffen of the warrior as well for attack as for protection, and in this sense accoutrements or equipments is the nearest word in English to express it, but it often only conveys the idea of mail, helmet, harness, armlets and greaves, and then it means 'armour'. Gewehre are distinguished from Waffen by comprehending only instruments of attack and not weapons of defence. The proper military term therefore for Gewehre is 'arms of offence'. The word Stück is used for single cannons; this is 'piece'; they are called drei, sechs, zwölfpfündige Stücke, that is three-pounders, six-pounders, twelve-pounders. The word Geschoss is now as a military term obsolete, but it is still used by poets, perhaps, 'bolts' is the best poetical word to represent it.

Das —, V. Wartung. Syn. Warten, Abwarten, Erwarten. The main idea conveyed by Warten [to wait] is that of remaining in the same situation, in one place, in one position without requiring any secondary idea to complete its full meaning. I have gewartet [waited] here more than an hour, merely says: I can no longer remain inactive, I must resolve upon something. Abwarten [await] is distinguished from warten by the preponderating secondary idea of continuing the Warten [act of waiting] until the result of that thing is obtained, which is to put an end to the Warten. Finally erwarten [to expect] is distinguished from both by the prominent accessory idea of something about to happen. According to the nature of this something is the erwarten either agreeable or disagreeable. V. also Harren.

doctor. — doft, m. 1) common eupatorium, hemp-agrimony. 2) V. — hanf 1). — drasche, m. [—hoel] water-spout. — drachen-wurz, f. V. — arum. — dreiblatt, n. the common buck-bean, marsh-trefoil, marsh-clover, bog-bean. — drossel, f. (in nat. hist.) the water-ouzel [of Latham]. — druck, m. (in physics) pressure of water, hydrostatic pressure. — drucklehre, f. V. — fruchtlehre. — dunst, m. V. — dampf. — dürrwurz, f.
1) V. — hanf. 2) marsh-ragwort or cineraria.
— ebene, f. 1) surface of the water. 2) a horizontal or level surface. — eibisch, m.

(in botany) water-mallow. — eibische, f. (in
nat. hist.) water-salamander, lacerta aquatica.
— eimer, m. bucket, pail. — eisen, n. (in mineralogy) siderite; it. hydrosiderum, cold short iron. — engelwurz, f. meadow-angelica. — enzian, m. (in botany) water-gentian. — epheu, m. trisulcous lemna, aquatic hederula. — eppich, m. 1) smallage, apium graveolens. 2) [—merk] great waterparsnep; it. creeping water-parsnep. 3) celery-leaved or marsh-crowfoot. — erz, n.
ore of oxide of iron. — erzeugung, f.
formation of water. — eule, f. V. — motte.
— euphorbie, f. sea-spurge. — faden,
m. (in botany) 1) conserva. Der kugelförmige, kupfergrüne, beidlebige, blasenartige, gegitterte, haarfeine, kettenförmige, forallen-

—kunst, f. 1) [Hydraulik] hydraulics.
2) —kunst or —kunststück, —kunst-werk, n. hydraulic machine or engine. 3) fountain. Die —künste spielen or springen lassen, to let the water-works play.
—künstler, m. one who understands hydraulics. —künstlich, adj. hydraulic.
—kürbis, m. V. —metone. —lache, f. V.
2. Lache —lache, m. [in botany] broad leaved pond-weed. —land, n. land abounding in water. —länge, f. V. —schlange. —lanze,
f. [in hydraulics = Wasserstrahl] shoot of water.
—laub, n. [in architecture] water-leaves.
—lauch, m. 1) V. Lachknoblauch. 2) [Wiesentlauch, —knoblauch] purple-striped or oleraceous garlic. —lauf, m. 1) course of the water; [Strömung] current. 2) [with miners] any water-duct, drain. —laufer, —läusfer, m. 1) [in nat. hist.] a) water-rail, velvet-runner; b) [a species of fly] the petronella. 2) [with miners] a poor lode.
—laus, f. V. —wanze. —leberkraut,
n. V. —hahnenfuß. —leer, adj. and adv.
without water. —lezen, pl. [in anatomy]
the nymphs. —le[ge]ger, m. [in seamen's lang.] water cask. V. Legger. —lehre, f.
hydrology. —leim, m. V. Bogelleim. — leite, f. canal. —leitung, f. V. — leitungskunst. —leitung, f. 1) aqueduct, canal. 2) [in anatomy] V. —gang. —leitungse-brücke, f. bridge for an aqueduct. —leitungskunst, f. [the science of] hydraulics, the hydraulic science. —leitungsberechtigt, n. 1) right of turning the water off to one's own lands &c. 2) V. Traufrecht. —leitungsröhre, f. pipe of conveyance, a conduit-pipe. —leuchter, m. [in hydraulics] fountain with branching pipes. —lieger, V. —legger. —liesch, m. flowering rush, water-gladiolus, butomus. —lilie, f. 1) [—schwertel] yellow iris or water-flag, water flower-de-luce, water-sedge. 2) [Seeblume] water-lily, water-rose, nymphaea. —limone, f. water-lemon, passiflora laurifolia. —linie, f. 1) water-mark, V. Stutthöhe. 2) water-line [on a ship]. —linse, f. [in botany] 1) duck's weed or meat, lemna. Große —linse, frog-bit, hydrocharis. 2) [Frühlingsstern] vernal star-headed chickweed, vernal starwort, waterwort, callitriche verna. —lippen, V. —leffen. —loch, n. 1) hole filled with water. 2) [Senfloch] sess-pool, sink; [through a wall] drain. —lobe, f. V. —schloß. —los, V. —leer. —lose, —losung, f. [Abgicht] drain, discharge, drainage. —lotste, f. [with miners] adit, gutter. —mahlerei, f. [with painters] painting in water-colours. —mangel, m. scarcity of water, drought. —mangold, m. V. —ampfer. —mann, m. 1) [in astronomy] waterman, aquarius. 2) [formerly, in popular superstitious belief] an ondin, [Scotch] kelpie. —männchen, n. 1) V. —jungfer 1). 2) V. —tulpe. 3) water-sprite, kelpie. —marke, f. 1) V. —zeichen [in paper]. 2) water-mark; it. waterline, V. —linie. —märzkräut, n. V. —benediktkräut. —maschine, f. hydraulic machine or engine. —maß, n. a water-gauge or gage. —maus, f. water-rat, mus amphibius. Kleine —maus, V. —spizmaus. —meerrettig, m. V. —rettig. —melone, f. water-melon. —mengelwurz, f. V. —ampfer. —menschen, m. 1) V. —mann 2). 2) Fig. [fam. and comic] a person extremely partial to water, either for frequent bathing and ablutions, or for drinking copiously; a follower or partisan of hydropathy. —merk, n. 1) [in botany] a) Knotiger —merk, creeping water-parsnep; —merk mit breiten Blättern, great water-parsnep; b) —merk or starkfriedender Eppich, smallage, apium graveolens. 2) [in seamen's lang.] V. —linie 2). —merle, f. V. —star. —messer, m. a hydrometer. —messkunst, f. hydrometry. —milbe, f. 1) scarlet water-mite. 2) V. —spinne. —minze, f. V. —münze. —mohn, m. —möhre, f. white nymphaea. —mold, m. water-newt or lizard; it. lake-newt. —mönch, m. [in hydraulics] bung, hatch. —moss, n. 1) water-moss, V. Meerlinse. 2) [—faden] conferva. —morselle, f. V. —merk. —mörser, m. [in pyrotechny] water-mortar. —mofst, m. [Lauer] must of the second runnings [from the wine-press]. —motte, f. [in nat. hist.] spring-fly, summer-fly, water-fly, cod-bait, stone-bait, phryganea. —mücke, f. 1) water-gnat. 2) [Teichwanze] lacustral bug. —mühle, f. water-mill. —müller, m. water-miller. —münze, f. water-calamin, water-mint. —murmelthier, n. V. Biberratte. —muß, n. V. —brei. —nabel, m. [—nabelkraut] common marsh-pennywort. —nabelbruch, m. [with surgeons] hydromphale. —nachtigall, f. [Blaufeldchen] the blue-throated warbler. —nase, f. [in architecture] V. Wetterstempel. —natter, f. ägyptische —natter, the coluber or snake situla. —natterwurz, f. V. —arum. —neße, f. V. —veischen 1). —nept, m. V. —münze. — —nix, m. —nixe, f. V. Nix, Nixe. —noth, f. 1) distress, calamity caused by inundations, by a land-flood. In —noth gerathen, to be exposed to peril from the rising waters. 2) V. —mangel. —nöthig, adj. and adv. [with miners] —nöthige Seche, 1) mine almost swamped. 2) a mine requiring extraneous water to set its machines in play. —nuß, f. floating water-caltrops, V. Stachelnuß 1). —nymphe, f. 1) [in mythology] water-nymph, Naiad. 2) [in nat. hist.] V. —jungfer 1). —ochs, m. 1) hippopotamus, water-elephant, sea-horse, river-horse. 2) [Kohrdommel] the bittern. —opal, m. [in mineralogy] aqueous opal, hydrophane. —ordnung, f. regulation or order for the water-works &c. —orgel, f. 1) hydraulic organ. 2) [in conchology] the tooth-shell, dentalium. —otter, f. 1) V. —schlange. 2) V. Sischotter. —paß, I. adj. and adv. horizontal, level with the water, V. Bagericht. II. m. 1) narrow canal between cliffs or reefs. 2) V. —wage. 3) [in nat. hist.] V. Hammerfisch. —pastina, m. V. —merk [mit breiten Blättern]. —perle, f. false pearl. —peterlein, n. —petersilie, f. V. —pastinat. —pfahl, m. water-pile, stake in the water. —pfau, m. 1) [Pfaureiher] Balearic crane, crowned heron. 2) V. —jungfer 1). —pfeffer, m. [in botany] 1) water-pepper, biting persicaria. 2) [Schlangenkraut] European or marsh-calla. 3) waterwort, elatine hydropiper. —pfennig, m. [old and provincial] V. —geld. —pferd, n. 1) [in mythology &c.] sea-horse. 2) [in nat. hist.] a) [Stußpferd] hippopotamus; b) V. Wasserpferd; c) V. Seerpferd, Meerpferdchen. —pferdegöpel, m. [with miners] a water-wheel worked by horse-power. —pflanze, f. aquatic plant. —pflaume, f. water-plum. —pfriemen, m. [in botany] awlwort, subularia. —pfuhl, m. —pfüße, f. a pool, V. Pfuhl, Pfüße. —pimpinelle, f. water-samolus, water-pimpernel. —platz, m. [in seamen's lang.] watering-place. —poche, f. V. —blatter 2). —polei, m. [in botany] 1) moneywort, creeping loosestrife, herb twopence. 2) V. —münze. —portulack, m. [in botany] water-purslane. —presse, f. [in paper-mills] press. —probe, f. 1) [formerly] water-ordeal, [old] water-dome. 2) assay by [means of] water. Die —probe der Metalle, the assay of metals by taking their specific gravity. —prophet, m. 1) a dealer in hydromancy. 2) Fig. [in a bad sense] a water-doctor. —prophezeiung, f. 1) hydromancy. 2) Fig. [in a bad sense] uromancy. —pumpe, f. common or any pump for water. —puppe, f. V. —jungfer. —pyramide, f. V. —kegel [in hydraulics]. —quelle, f. water-source, spring. —rabe, m. 1) the shag, sea-crow, pelicanus graculus. 2) [Seerabe] the cormorant. 3) the Indian hornbill, bucceros hydrocorax. —racete, f. [in pyrotechnics] water-rocket. —rad, n. [in hydraulics] any water-wheel [as a mill-wheel]; it. a wheel for raising water [as a Chinese wheel]; [in pyrotechny] aquatic girandole. —ralle, f. [in nat. hist.] Große —ralle, water-rail, velvet-runner, bilcock, brook-ouzel; kleine —ralle, spotted gallinule, small spotted water-hen, girardin. —ranke, f. [with gardeners] water-shoot. —ratte, —rage, f. 1) water-rat. 2) musk-rat, sorex moschatus. —rauke, f. 1) V. —rettig. 2) water-rocket. —raum, m. 1) space filled with water. 2) [in seamen's lang.] hold for the water-casks. —rebe, f. sucker from a water-shoot. —rebhuhn, n. woodcock. —recht, I. adj. and adv. V. Bagericht. II. n. V. —leitungsberechtigt. —reich, I. adj. and adv. rich in water. —reiche Gegend, Quelle, a well-watered country, an abundant source. II. n. the watery kingdom. —reiß, m. hoarfrost. —reis, n. V. —schiff. —reise, f. a journey by water; a voyage. —rettig, m. 1) water-radish. 2) V. —hanf 2). —rhazbarber, m. V. —ampfer. —riedgras, n. 1) acute carex or sedge. 2) V. —viehgras. —riemen, m. [Tang] grass-wrack, zostera. —riese, m. Fig. sea-giant, a leviathan of the deep. —rinne, f. 1) gutter on a roof; it. a rain-spout. 2) V. —furche. —rispe, f. V. —viehgras. —riß, m. ravine, gorge, V. —schlucht; it. a river-fret. —riße, f. 1) chink or flaw through which the water oozes. 2) [in seamen's lang.] V. Reck. —rohr, n. V. —feder 3). —röhre, f. water-pipe, tube or canal, water-conduit. —rose, f. V. —lilie 2). —ross, n. V. —pferd. —rossschwanz, m. [in botany] [great] river horse-tail; it. marsh horse-tail. —rübe, f. the white turnip-radish. —rüster, f. [in botany] the wych-elm. —säbler, m. the avoset, avosetta recurvirostra. —sack, m. 1) [with surgeons] a watery or hydropic cyst. 2) [in hydraulics] interval between the wheel-flotes. 3) [with miners] mass of water, sump. 4) the lower part of a tobacco-pipe. —säsege, f. V. —atoc. —salamander, m. V. —molch. —salat, m. 1) great duckweed or pondweed, pistia stratiotes. 2) [Bachbunge] brook-lime, V. —heil. —sammlung, f. 1) collection or mass of waters. 2) the collecting of water into one spot. —sand, m. river-sand, quick-sand. —sandstein, m. V. Giltrierstein. —saphir, m. [in mineralogy] water-sapphire, bluish-white telesia. —säule, f. 1) [in physics] column of water. 2) V. —hose. —schabe, f. V. —motte. —schacht, m. [with miners] a drain-shaft, an adit. —schaden, m. injury or damage caused by water or [especially] by inundations. —schadhaft, adj. and adv. spoiled by [the] water; [in commerce] damaged. —schaftheu, n. common chara, stinking water-horsetail. —schar, f. [with poets] the inhabitants or denizens of the waters, the finny tribe. —schas, m. provision of water. —schaukel, f. 1) a scoop, boat-scoop. 2) float-board, ladle. —schaukelmaus, f. the paradoxical frog. —schaut, m. water-bailiff. —scheide, f. 1) place or spot on a mountain-range where [the sources of] two or more streams or rivers branch off or descend in different directions. 2) V. Meßer, heft [in nat. hist.]. —scheidung, f. 1) act of separating, parting, turning aside the waters. 2) dam or any work that parts &c. the water. 3) part or spot where two or more rivers branch-off; it. V. —schelde 1). —schensel, m. V. Wetterstempel. —scherer, m. [in nat. hist.] 1) the shear-water, Manks petrel or puffin, procellaria puffinus. 2) V. —beißer. —scheu, adj. and adv. 1) fearful of water, having a dread of it. 2) afflicted with hydrophobia. Ein —scheuer, eine —scheue, a person afflicted with hydrophobia. 3) Fig. [in fam. lang. and comic] not very fond of water, but of wine and the like; it. having a dread of swimming or getting into the water. Er ist —scheu, he never drinks water, he has a horror of the pure liquid. —scheu, f. hydrophobia. —schieber, m. [Schleuse] water-shut. —schierling, m. 1) water-hemlock or cicuta. 2) [Koffenches] water-phellandrium, fine-leaved water-hemlock. —schiff, n. 1) [unusual] any ship, a vessel. 2) [in seamen's lang., das Kameel] the camel. —schilddröte, f. river-tortoise, sea-tortoise, turtle [opposed to land-tortoise]. —schlacht, f. 1) V. Seeschlacht. 2) [in hydraulics] dike along the bank. —schlamm, m. 1) mud, slime. 2) [Bachwasserfaden] river-conserva. —schlange, f. [in nat. hist.] 1) water-snake, ringed snake, coluber natrix. 2) V. —aaf 2). 3) [in astronomy] hydra. 4) [in seamen's lang.] the water-hose. —schlangengraut, n. V. —arum. —schlauch, m. 1) a water-skin, black-jack 2) [in botany] hooded milfoil, utricularia; it. hydrangea. —schlehe, f. [in botany] smooth bean-tree of America. —schlinge, f. [in botany] the common bird-cherry-tree. —schloß, n. 1) castle built in the water, by the water's edge. 2) [in hydraulics] castle containing reservoirs. —schlotte, f. [great] river horse-tail. —schlucht, f. ravine, gorge. —schlund, m. gulf, abyss. —schmetterling, m. V. —motte. —schmiele, f. water hair-grass, sweet-tasted water-aira. —schnecke, f. 1) any water-snail. 2) [in conchology] the lake snail. Die kleine bedeckte —schnecke, the olive-snail; große lebendig gebärende —schnecke, the viviparous snail. 3) [in hydraulics] V. —schraube. —schneider, m. V. —beißer. —schneepfe, f. [in nat. hist.] 1) the snipe, V. Heerschneepfe. 2) [Mittelschneepfe] jack-snipe. 3) [kleine Fußschneepfe] lesser godwit, stone-plover. 4) [Sandpfeifer] common sand-piper, tringa hypoleucus. —schöpf, f. bucket, pail; it. [in kitchens] a copper-bowl or great ladle [for filling water out of a pail]. —schöpfer, m. 1) one who bales out &c. water. 2) a scoop, bowl, bowl-dish. —schöpf, m. [with gardeners] water-shoot. —schoten, pl. [in seamen's lang.] sheets of the lower bonnets. —schott, m. V. —schuß 2). —schraub, f. Archimedes' screw. —schreier, m. [Kropfgans] the pelican. —schuß, m. 1) V. —schuß. 2) [in seamen's lang.] Ein Schiff auf —schuß or —schott vertieren, to moor a ship watershot. —schwabe, f. V. Uferschwabe. —schwamm, m. V. —schlamm 2). —schwanz, m. [in botany] mare's tail, female horse-tail. —schwärm, m. [in pyrotechny] fire-case. —schwärmer, m. [in pyrotechny] water-serpent, water-squib, dolphin. —schwein, n. [in nat. hist.] 1) thick-nosed tapir, water-hog, V. Sumpfschwein. 2) [Tapir] tapir. —schwere, f. [specific] gravity of water. —schwertel, m. —schwertlilie, f. V. —lilie 1). —schwimmer, m. 1) swimmer. 2) [Kammzwecke] [the smallest kind of] tack. —segel, n. [in seamen's lang.] water sail. —seige, f. 1) [with bakers] wire-sieve, water-sieve. 2) [with miners] soil or ground of an adit, of a water-adit. —seite, f. waterside, water-edge. —senf, m. V. —rettig 1). Falscher —senf, hedge-mustard, erysimum officinale. —serpente, f. V. —schwärmer. —sichel, f. V. —aloe. —skorpion, m. water-scorpion, nepa. —snoth, f. [in common people's lang.] V. —noth. —speier, m. spout of a gutter, a Gorgon-head &c. to a fountain. —spiegel, m. mirror of the water, placid surface of the water. —spiel, n. 1) play of water. 2) play executed on the water, by means of the water. 3) [—kunst] hydraulics. —spinne, f. 1) water-spider. 2) hydrachna or hydrachne. —spizmaus, f. the water-shrew, sorex fodiens. —springer, m. one who dives from a height for money &c. —spritze, f. squirt, syringe; garden-engine, V. Feuerpritze. —spritzer, m. [in nat. hist.] the sand-gaper. —sprudel,

m. the foam and spray of a fountain. —stadt, f. 1) town or city built on or near the water. 2) [not much used] a watering-place. —stag, m. [in seamen's lang.] bobstay. —stand, m. depth of the water [in a river &c.]. it. Der —stand [dieses Flusses, des Rheines &c.] war seit Jahren nicht so hoch, als dieses Jahr, the height of the river [the Rhine &c.] has not been so great, for many years back, as this year. —ständer, m. a water-tub, rain-water tub. —standlehre, f. hydrostatics. —standszeichen, n. water-mark [post &c. on which the rise of the river is graduated]. —star, m. the water-ouzel. —stein, m. 1) boundary-stone to or of a river. 2) [Gußstein] sink, stone-sink. 3) V. Gießstein. 4) [with cooks &c.] stony crust in kettles &c., concrete carbonate of lime. —steinbrech, m. water-drop-wort, wild parsley. —stelze, f. the water-wagtail, V. Bachstelze. Schwarze —stelze, water-rail, velvet-runner, brook-ouzel. —stern, m. [in botany] 1) the callitriche. Der Frühlings —stern, vernal star-headed chickweed, vernal starwort; der Herbst —stern, autumnal starwort. 2) Der —stern, das —sternkraut, nodding bident, V. —hanf. 3) V. Seestern. —steuer, f. V. —geld. —stiefel, pl. jack-boots, fisherman's boots. —stoff, m. [in chemistry] hydrogen. Geschwefelter —stoff, sulphurated or sulphuretted hydrogen, hydrothionic or hydrosulphuric acid. —stoffgas, n. hydrogen gas, inflammable air. —stoffhaltig, adj. hydrogenated, hydrogenized. —stollen, m. [with miners] a stoll for draining. —strahl, m. a jet, a plume or feather of water. —strauch, m. 1) [little used] aquatic shrub. 2) [in botany] a) hydrangea; b) aquilicia, Indian staphylea. —strecke, f. [with miners] canal, duct of the waters of an adit, water-course. —streif, m. —streife, —strie, m. [with bakers] doughy part in bread, in a loaf. —streifig, —striemig, adj. [with bakers] doughy, lumpy [bread]. —strom, m. 1) torrent. 2) current or stream of water. —strudel, m. eddy [of water], whirlpool. —stube, f. [in hydraulics] reservoir of distribution, the feeder, V. Brunnenstube. —stück, n. [with gardeners] piece of water. —stur, m. [great] fall [of water], cataract. —sucht, f. [in medicine] hydrophobia, dropsy; V. Bauch —sucht, Brust —sucht, Hirn —sucht, Kopf —sucht, Leib —sucht. —süchtig, adj. and adv. dropsical. Ein —süchtiger, eine —süchtige, a dropsical man, woman; —süchtig seyn, to be dropsical, to have the dropsy. —suchtmittel, n. remedy against dropsy, a hydragogue, hydrotic. —suppe, f. water-soup. —tännel, m. V. —schwanz. —taucher, m. V. Taucher. —taufe, f. baptism with water. —tausendblatt, n. water-milfoil, myriophyllum. —teufel, m. V. —huhn [das schwarze]. —theilchen, n. [in physics] a molecule of water. —thier, n. aquatic animal. —thurm, m. V. —schloß 2). —tiefe, f. 1) depth of the water. 2) [in seamen's lang.] the draught of water, the gage. —tölpel, m. [in nat. hist.] the lesser gannet, the fisher pelican. —tonne, f. 1) water-cask. 2) [in seamen's lang.] buoy, V. Bafe. —topf, m. water-pot, water-jug or mug. —tracht, f. 1) a load of water 2) [in seamen's lang.] V. —tiefe. —träger, m. —trägerin, f. 1) water-carrier. 2) [in nat. hist.] a) V. Drohne. b) V. —schreier. Gehörnter —träger, the horned screamer, palamedea cornuta. —treibend, adj. and adv. [in medicine] hydrotic. —treibende Mittel, hydragogues, hydrotics. —trense, f. a snaffle for a horse when taken out to a watering-place; slabbering-bit or snaffle. —treten, n. art of treading the water. —treter, m. 1) a treader of the water. 2) [in nat. hist.] the water-rail. —trichter, m. [in nat. hist.] [a species of hydra] the funnel. —trinker, m. —trinkerin, f. a water-drinker. —tritt, m. V. Begetritt. —trog, m. water-trough. —tröglein, n. the trough in a bird-cage. —trommel, f. [with miners] the drum-ventilator. —trompete, f. V. —hose. —tropfen, m. 1) drop of water. 2) [in conchology] the great leopard, cypraea tigris; it. the great turtle-leopard. Guineis —scher —tropfen, the stercoreary cypraea or cowry. —trüffel, m. V. Stachelnuss 1). —tulpe, f. white nymphaea, water-lily, water-rose. —tumpel, m. V. —psüpe. —uhr, f. clepsydra. —urtheil, n. V. —probe 1). —veilchen, n. [in botany] 1) water-violet or milfoil, hottonia palustris. 2) [Blumenbinse] flowering rush, water-gladiolus. 3) [Schotenweiderich] large-flowered willow-herb, codlings and cream. —viehgras, n. water meadow-grass, great water reed-grass, water-poa. —vielfraß, m. V. —schreier. —viole, f. V. —veilchen. —vogel, m. aquatic bird. —vorrath, m. provision of or in water; [in seamen's lang.] supply of water [on board]. —wage, f. [in physics] 1) water-level. Mit der —wage abwägen, nach der —wage abmessen, richten, to measure with the level, to take the level. 2) areometer, water-poise, gauge. —wägen, f. art of determining or taking the level; it. hydrostatics. —wägen, n. taking the level. —wäger, m. he, who takes the level. —wägung, f. V. —wägen. —wahrsager, m. V. —prophet. —wahrsagung, f. V. —prophezeiung. —wanze, f. 1) the water-bug, notonecta. 2) water-scorpion, nepa. —warte, f. 1) [Begewarte] wild endive or succory. 2) [in seamen's lang.] V. Warte. —watte, f. V. —faden. —wechsel, m. meeting of two seas, of high tide and back-water &c. —wegerich, m. Gemeiner —wegerich, greater water-plantain; spiziger, kleiner —wegerich, lesser water-plantain. —wehr, n. V. The merchant reckons up the profits of his trade, the artist the payments for the productions of his art, the person on pay counts in his pay as part of his Einkünfte, as well as doing so with his Renten and Zinsen. In general Renten are opposed to the Einkünfte from a salary or from the profit of a trade; they also include the Zinsen of one's capital. Compare Wirtszins, Wachtzins. Zins and Rente are distinguished however thus, that Zins [interest] signifies that sum, which the giver is obliged to pay, and which the capitalist or proprietor has the right of demanding; eine Rente [rent] however, in as much as the proprietor or capitalist receives it and by that means increases his Einkünfte [income]. From this it will be seen that Zins and Rente, especially the former, do not exactly mean the same thing, that interest and rent do in English.

SYN. Zutragen, sich, Geschehen, Ereignen, sich, Begeben, sich, Vorgehen, Vorfällen. Geschehen [to happen, to take place] is spoken of all events or changes; it is the result of doing. If any one does something, it geschieht [takes place]. 'Light the candle.' — 'It is already geschehen [done]'. The same is expressed by vorgehen [to come to pass], but with the joint idea, that that, which vorgeht, excites especial attention and interest. Precisely this extent of meaning is possessed also by vorfällen [to fall out or upon], but with the secondary idea, that that, which geschieht [happens], happens unexpectedly. A change, which excites peculiar attention, alters the state of things, and with which a longer succession of changes founded upon it and consequent upon each other begins — such a change begibt sich [happens, (old) betides]; it is a Begebenheit [an event, incident]. When one considers an event with respect to its changes, whether it is regarded as an effect of physical necessity or considered as a mere effect of chance, then one says, it has sich zugetragen [been brought about, to pass]. It sometimes chances, happens, turns out [trägt sich zu], that continued rainy weather spoils the harvest. Ereignen [to befall] is used in speaking of certain important circumstances, in as far as they have their peculiar consequences and hence cause several changes. At the entry of the king, the chance ereignete sich [befell], that is, the event occurred, it happened, that a scaffolding broke, by which many persons lost their lives. —träger, m. [in a bad sense] an emissary or informer, a tell-tale, a tale-bearer. —trägerei, f. [in a bad sense] 1) act of tittle-tattling, of being a tell-tale, of telling tales out of school, of informing.
